SERVICES
The Animal Eye Clinic is limited exclusively to the specialty of veterinary ophthalmology (diseases and surgery of the eye) and provides for diagnosis and treatment of ocular diseases in all animal species.

DR GWIN'S BACKGROUND
Dr. Gwin graduated from Oklahoma State University in 1973. Following two years of private practice in Oklahoma City, Dr. Gwin was awarded a three year post-doctoral research fellowship from the National Eye Institute to study canine glaucoma and other aspects of veterinary ophthalmology. This research project was conducted at the University of Minnesota and the University of Florida. Dr. Gwin received a masters in veterinary ophthalmology along with board certification in veterinary ophthalmology in 1978. Dr. Gwin was on staff (assistant professor) at the Ohio State University (two years) and the University of Florida (two years) teaching hospitals with clinical, research, and teaching responsibilities.

SPECIALTY PRACTICE POLICY
The Animal Eye Clinic is a distinct entity but utilizes the hospital facilities for ancillary services as are necessary.No other services apart from ophthalmology will be rendered at the hospital except for those directly related to eye diseases at the time of examination or in the future. Please do not request other veterinary services. Dr. Gwin is in private consultation practice in Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

APPOINTMENTS
Patients are seen by appointment only. Appointments are scheduled by the receptionists at each of the facilities, but only on the day we are physically there. On other days call the toll free number to inquire about our schedule, medications, or appointments. When calling for an appointment, please leave your telephone number where you can be reached so we may call to remind you of your appointment or in case your appointment needs to be changed. Do not feed your pet on the morning of the examination. However, if your pet is diabetic, please give normal food and normal insulin. Please bring all the eye medications your pet has received along with any other medications (i.e. heart tablets). Local numbers are as follows:

Oklahoma City	(405) 751-3821
Tulsa	(918) 632-0508
Toll free number for both clinics	(800) 256-6454

MEDICATIONS AND HOME CARE
Please follow your medical instructions carefully and continue all medications until directed to stop. When applying drops to the eye, one drop is sufficient. To insure the best care for your pet, be sure to follow the re-evaluation appointment schedule carefully.

FEES
Fees in all fields of medicines have been rising due to increased costs. Our fees for services are usual and customary charges for the kind of specialized services rendered and are comparable to those of other veterinary ophthalmologists across the United States. Fees are payable when services are rendered. Payment can be made in cash, check, bank debit card, Master Card or Visa.

REFERRING VETERINARIAN
When you leave the office, a complete written report is mailed to your referring veterinarian. Please be sure that his or her proper name, address, telephone and fax number are given to the receptionist so that the report is received by your doctor. Remember, your doctor will administer your pet's primary health care for many years to come. The act of referring a difficult ophthalmologic case exemplifies your veterinarian's concern for your pet. Please keep him/her informed as to the process of your pet's eye condition.
